II. Additional Terms and Conditions of Standard Product Warranty

A. NOTICE REGARDING TRANSFERABILITY

The original owner may transfer this Limited Warranty once during the life of this Limited Warranty to a purchaser of the structure on which the Shingles have been installed, subject to certain conditions. If this Limited Warranty is transferred for the only time during the Complete Protection Period, the Complete Protection Period will continue for the remainder of its duration. If this Limited Warranty is transferred for the only time after the end of the Complete Protection Period, the balance of the warranty period shall be reduced to 2 years from the date of the transfer and prorated from the original date of purchase by the amount of use already enjoyed. For this Limited Warranty to transfer and the second owner to obtain the benefits of this Limited Warranty, the second owner, within 60 days of the date of the real estate transfer, must contact 1-888-Go-F-Wave and provide written (a) proof of purchase of the Shingles, (b) the installation date of the Shingles, and (c) submit payment of the $250.00 Limited Warranty transfer fee. The Warranty Coverage transferred will be the remaining coverage under this Limited Warranty as if the original owner had remained as owner of the structure upon which the Shingles are installed.

Plain-English: This Limited Warranty can be transferred one time by the original purchasing homeowner to a new homeowner so long as the homeowner follows F-Wave's specific transfer requirements contained in the Notice Regarding Transferability. If transferred after the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period, this Limited Warranty converts to a 2-year warranty, prorated for the time of use already enjoyed.

B. NOTICE REGARDING LEGAL RIGHTS

This Limited Warranty applies only to products purchased and installed in the United States and conveys specific legal rights and obligations. The owner of this Limited Warranty may have additional legal rights pursuant to the laws of the state in which the Shingles were purchased or installed, or any applicable federal laws.

Plain-English: This Limited Warranty only applies to products purchased and installed in the United States. You may have other legal rights that are not outlined in this Limited Warranty and that may be applicable under state or federal law.

C. NOTICE REGARDING WHO RECEIVES COVERAGE

To receive the benefits of this Limited Warranty the structure and property on which the Shingles are installed must be located in the United States, and the holder of this Limited Warranty must be either the original purchaser and property owner on which the Shingles are installed or the property owner who acquired the property from the original purchaser and has received a transfer of this Limited Warranty pursuant to the conditions contained herein.

Plain-English: This Limited Warranty is available only for products installed in the United States. This Limited Warranty is only available to property owners (not contractors or builders) who have installed the Shingles themselves or had a contractor install the Shingles, and the second owner of the installed Shingles when this Limited Warranty is properly transferred.

D. NOTICE REGARDING WHAT IS COVERED BY THE STANDARD PRODUCT LIMITED WARRANTY

It is warranted that the Shingles are free from manufacturing defects that (a) materially affect the installed performance of the installed Shingles during the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period; or (b) directly cause any leaks after the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period.

Plain-English: The Shingles will be free from manufacturing defects that materially affect installed performance on the roof during the first 10 or 15 years depending upon the length of your non-prorated coverage period, or that directly cause leaks any time during the Remaining Coverage Period.

E. NOTICE REGARDING HOW LONG THE SHINGLES ARE COVERED

Subject to this Limited Warranty requirements for Coverage and Transferability, the length of the WeatherForce™ Advantage Standard Product Limited Warranty is comprised of (a) two defined periods for Single-Family Detached Homes owned by individuals: the (1) Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period and (2) Remaining Coverage Period; and two defined periods for all other type of structures with a steep-slope roof as outlined in The Standard Product Limited Warranty Period Table.

Plain-English: This Limited Warranty is a 50-Year Warranty made up from two specific time periods. These are: (1) the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period, which is 10 or 15 years in length from the date of purchase (10 years for structures other than single-family, detached), is transferrable, and is non-prorated; and (2) the Remaining Coverage Period, which is the remaining time after the expiration of the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period for either the original owner or the second owner of the installed Shingles when this Limited Warranty is properly transferred.

WEATHERFORCE™ ADVANTAGE STANDARD LIMITED WARRANTY PERIOD TABLE

Structure / Owner Type	Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period Years 1-15	Remaining Coverage Period Years 16-50

NOTICE REGARDING THE COMPLETE PROTECTION (NON-PRORATED) PERIOD

From the date of purchase when installed on a qualified structure and for qualified owner(s) as outlined in The Standard Product Limited Warranty Period Table, F-Wave will compensate the owner of the installed Shingles for the cost, as reasonably determined by F-Wave at its sole discretion, to repair, replace or recover the defective Shingles, subject to the condition that F-Wave has the sole discretion and right to arrange directly for the repair or replacement of the installed Shingles instead of compensating the owner directly. F-Wave reserves the right to discontinue or modify any Shingles, including the colors offered; therefore, replacement Shingles due under this Limited Warranty may not be an exact match. Even if the same color and style of Shingle is available, the product may not appear to be an exact match to the existing Shingles due to normal weathering, aging, and other factors.

1. If F-Wave decides to replace the Shingles, F-Wave will compensate the owner for the cost of replacement of the Shingles and the Labor Costs directly required to replace the defective Shingles, in each case as reasonably determined by F-Wave.
2. If F-Wave decides to repair or recover the Shingles, F-Wave will compensate the owner only for the Labor Costs directly required to repair or recover the defective Shingles, as reasonably determined by F-Wave. The Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period is for manufacturing defects only and does not apply to wind, Class IV impact, algae, or color fade resistance. Please review the Wind Resistance, Class IV Impact Resistance, Algae Resistance, and Color Fading Resistance Sections of this Limited Warranty for applicable coverage.

Plain-English: This Limited Warranty provides coverage against manufacturing defects. The Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period provides this coverage based upon the original cost of the Shingles at the time of installation, non-prorated for 10 or 15 years depending on the type of structure and ownership as specified in the Standard Product Limited Warranty Period Table. If F-Wave determines that a Shingle contains a manufacturing defect, then F-Wave will replace, repair, or recover the defective Shingles at its sole discretion and will compensate the owner for the reasonable cost of doing so, including the cost of labor directly related to the replacement, repair, or recover of the defective Shingles. However, F-Wave has the right to arrange directly for the repair or replacement of the Shingle rather than compensating the owner for doing so.

G. NOTICE REGARDING THE REMAINING COVERAGE PERIOD

After the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period expires, the Remaining Coverage Period shall begin. During the term of the Remaining Coverage Period, F-Wave will provide the owner with prorated compensation for the cost of any F-Wave Shingles that F-Wave has determined contain a manufacturing defect and no other costs (including, but not limited to, Labor Costs). The prorated compensation amount is 50% of the original cost after Year 15 from the original registered purchase date, then prorated annually by a factor of n/600 – with n equal to the number of months that the Shingles have been installed (Year 11 for structures other than single-family, detached). F-Wave reserves the right to arrange directly for the repair or replacement of the Shingles instead of compensating the owner for doing so.

Plain-English: After the first 10 or 15 years, depending on the type of structure and ownership as specified in the Standard Product Limited Warranty Period Table, that the Shingles are installed on the owner's roof, and if the owner is either the original owner or the owner of this Limited Warranty transferred in accordance with the conditions contained herein, F-Wave will compensate the owner for the cost to replace or repair any Shingles determined by F-Wave to contain a manufacturing defect, based upon the original cost of the Shingles at the time of installation and the prorated remaining coverage value of the original cost. This coverage only includes the replacement or repair cost of the Shingles and no other costs like labor or disposal.

H. NOTICE REGARDING OTHER STRUCTURES

All coverage provided by this Limited Warranty depends upon the type of structure upon which the Shingles are installed and the owner of the structure. Class IV Impact Resistance coverage applies only to single-family detached homes that are owned by individual(s). In the event the Shingles are purchased and installed on any other type of structure (such as schools, apartment buildings, condominiums, etc.) or owned by non-individuals (such as corporations, partnerships, trusts, governmental agencies, religious organizations, etc.) the coverage period for this Limited Warranty will be 40 years from the original purchase date of the Shingles, and the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period will be 10 years from the original purchase date of the Shingles.

Plain-English: For all structure types, other than single-family detached homes, and all owner(s) other than individual(s), the coverage period is reduced to 40 years, and the Complete Protection (Non-Prorated) Period is reduced to 10 years.

I. NOTICE REGARDING EXCEPTIONS TO WARRANTY COVERAGE FOR DEFECTIVE SHINGLES

F-Wave's obligation to compensate the owner of Shingles under this Limited Warranty – whether the compensation is for repair, replacement, or recover, or the refund of a proration portion of the cost of defective Shingles as reasonably determined by F-Wave, are subject to the limitations established by this Limited Warranty. F-Wave will not provide compensation to the owner of the Shingles for any underlayment, flashings, or related work, including the removal and disposal of Shingles.

Plain-English: The Warranty Coverage only applies to defective Shingles. It does not apply to underlayment, fasteners, nails, flashings, any other related work including removal and disposal.

J. NOTICE REGARDING WIND RESISTANCE COVERAGE

F-Wave's Shingles include a non-asphaltic pressure sensitive sealant that when the Shingles are applied correctly according to F-Wave installation instructions, which includes an air temperature above 40 degrees F at the time of installation and proper nailing, requires a Shingle surface temperature above 74 degrees F in order to seal properly. If the Shingles are installed during a period where the air temperature is below 40 degrees F they may not adequately seal until the air temperature warms for a period of several days. Prior to the Shingles sealing they are more vulnerable to wind-damage. After the Shingles are properly sealed they will be covered under this Limited Warranty if the Shingles experience wind-damage as a result of recorded wind speeds up to 130-MPH, and for 15 Years from the original purchase date for single-family detached, free-standing home owned by individual(s); 10 years from the original purchase date for all other structures with a steep-slope roof owned by individual(s) or other owner(s) – otherwise referred to as the Wind Coverage Period. F-Wave is only liable for the reasonable cost of replacing or repairing wind-damaged or blown-off Shingles, including Labor Costs and costs of materials, and which may include the reasonable cost to manually seal any unsealed Shingles.

Plain-English: F-Wave Shingles are covered against blow-off and damage from wind speeds up to 130-MPH for 15 years, non-prorated for single-family detached structure owned by individual(s); 10 years from the original purchase date for all other structures with a steep-slope roof owned by individual(s) or other owner(s), providing that the Shingles have been correctly installed – including temperature at time of installation and proper nailing.

K. NOTICE REGARDING CLASS IV HAIL IMPACT RESISTANCE COVERAGE

F-Wave Shingles that are properly installed on single-family detached structures owned by individuals are covered for 5 years against excessive non-normal damage, so long as the homeowner reports the first hail impact occurrence following installation, as reasonably determined by F-Wave, and leaks caused by the impact of hailstones that do not exceed 2.0" in diameter as determined and verified by State and Federal Government Agency data, and provided that the roof slope of the structure upon which the Shingles are installed is 4:12 (18.5 degrees) and greater, the underlying roof sheathing is a minimum 15/32 inch plywood or minimum 7/16 inch OSB roof sheathing designed for use in roof decks and supported by proper framing (trusses or rafters) and covered by ASTM rated synthetic roofing underlayment, and for reroofing applications the existing shingles must be removed before installing the new Shingles. For this Class IV Hail Impact Resistance Coverage to apply, the owner, within 30 days of the date of the first hail impact occurrence, must contact 1-888-Go-F-Wave and report the hail impact occurrence. Provided all Impact Resistance Coverage requirements are met, if excessive non-normal damage and leaks are caused by the impact of hailstones that do not exceed 2.0 inch diameter, F-Wave will compensate the owner of the Shingles for the cost – not to exceed the initial cost of the Shingles plus the initial cost of installation, including Labor Costs as reasonably determined by F-Wave – to repair, replace, or recover the affected shingles. Repair includes the option to clean or otherwise remove the affected Shingles only. The decision regarding whether to repair, replace, or recover will be made solely by F-Wave.

Plain-English: On the first hail impact occurrence following installation, and each occurrence thereafter for the first five years, F-Wave Shingles are covered against damage from hailstones that are 2" diameter or less as verified by State and Federal Government Agency data when the damage exceeds that which normally occurs during a UL 2218 Class IV (2" diameter or less) Impact Test, or when the hailstone damage causes the roof to leak, for 5 years, non-prorated for single-family detached, free-standing home owned by individual(s) only; provided that the Shingles have been correctly installed. Verified proof of each hailstone impact occurrence must be provided to F-Wave.

L. NOTICE REGARDING ALGAE RESISTANCE COVERAGE

After the Shingles have been properly installed they will be covered for a period of 10-15 years following the date of purchase against brown-black staining due to the growth of blue-green algae. F-Wave does not cover the effects of any other growth, such as mold, lichen, moss, and green algae. Should brown-black staining occur during the Coverage Period, the owner is entitled to the following:

1. During the first 5 years, F-Wave will compensate the owner of the Shingles for the cost – not to exceed the initial cost of the Shingles plus the initial cost of installation, including Labor Costs as reasonably determined by F-Wave – to repair, replace, or recover the affected Shingles. Repair includes the option to clean or otherwise replace the affected Shingles. The decision regarding whether to repair, replace, or recover will be made solely by F-Wave.
2. Years 6-10 or 6-15, depending upon structure type and owner according to Sections I.B.5.a. and I.B.5.b, Labor Costs will not be covered and F-Wave will compensate the owner of the Shingles for the cost – not to exceed 50% of the initial cost of the Shingles – to repair, replace, or recover the affected Shingles. Repair includes the option to clean or otherwise remove the affected Shingles. The decision regarding whether to repair, replace, or recover will be made solely by F-Wave.

Plain-English: F-Wave Shingles are covered for 10-15 years, depending upon structure type and owner, against discoloration due to blue-green algae growth only. Coverage is 100% non-prorated, and includes the cost of labor during years 1-5; and 50% prorated not including labor and other costs during years 6-10 or 6-15, as applicable.

M. NOTICE REGARDING COLOR FADING COVERAGE

After the Shingles have been properly installed they may experience uniform color change due to normal weathering, sunlight exposure, air quality, geographic location, and other conditions which are not under the control of F-Wave or the owner of the installed Shingles. F-Wave defines normal weathering as uniform sunlight exposure, and other typical weather and atmospheric exposures which can typically cause exposed colored surfaces to fade, lighten, or what is sometimes referred to as "chalk." Non-normal and otherwise non-uniform color change that in the reasonable judgement of F-Wave has occurred under the normal conditions referenced above is covered only where the Shingles have received uniform exposures to sunlight and other typical weather and atmospheric conditions. Should non-uniform fading occur during the Coverage Period, the owner is entitled to the following:

1. During the first 5 years, F-Wave will compensate the owner of the Shingles for the cost – not to exceed the initial cost of the Shingles plus the initial cost of installation, including Labor Costs (as reasonably determined by F-Wave) – to repair, replace, or recover the affected Shingles. Repair includes the option to clean or otherwise remove the affected Shingles. The decision regarding whether to repair, replace, or recover will be made solely by F-Wave.
2. During years 6-10 or 6-15, depending upon structure type and owner according to Sections I.B.5.a. and I.B.5.b, Labor Costs will not be covered and F-Wave will compensate the owner of the Shingles for the cost – not to exceed 50% of the initial cost of the Shingles – to repair, replace, or recover the affected Shingles. Repair includes the option to clean or otherwise remove the affected Shingles. The decision regarding whether to repair, replace, or recover will be made solely by F-Wave.

Plain-English: F-Wave Shingles are covered for 10 or 15 years, depending upon structure type and owner, against non-normal, non-uniform color fade as reasonably determined by F-Wave. All products will weather when exposed to the general elements to which a roof is exposed, such as air pollution, acid rain, and UV light, and are conditions over which the owner of the Shingles and F-Wave have no control. Coverage is 100% non-prorated, and includes the cost of labor during years 1-5; and 50% prorated not including labor and other costs during years 6-10 or 6-15, as applicable.

N. NOTICE REGARDING WHAT IS NOT COVERED

This Limited Warranty does not cover damage to Shingles or performance of any Shingles due to any causes that are not expressly covered by this Limited Warranty. Shingles are subjected to conditions and handling which may affect the performance of the Shingles and are beyond the control of F-Wave after they leave the manufacturing facility. This Limited Warranty explicitly does not cover any problems with non-defective Shingles that are caused by conditions and handling that are beyond F-Wave's control. Examples of conditions and causes that are not covered by this Limited Warranty include:

2. Damage to the Shingles due to failure as a result of damage to or failure of the underlying roof structure, or damage due to an unsuitable underlying roof structure;
3. Foot traffic on the roof;
4. Damage caused by natural and non-natural objects falling on the Shingles, such as tree limbs and remotecontrol aircraft;
5. Improper or faulty installation of the Shingles (installation must explicitly be in accordance with F-Wave written instructions and comply with local building codes);
6. Shading, variations in color of the Shingles, or discoloration caused by algae, fungus, lichen or cyanobacteria unless covered under the Algae Resistance Coverage provided by this Limited Warranty;
7. Improper and inadequate ventilation or roof drainage or any damage due to improperly designed and unvented attics;
8. Settling and movement of the structure upon which the Shingles are installed, or buckling or cracking of the underlying roof deck;
9. Leaks caused by pre-existing conditions, structural failures, or damaged areas on or near the roof that are not a part of the roofing system that includes the Shingles, such as chimneys that have loose and cracked mortar, skylight seams, and soil pipe boots that allow water to enter the roofing system or structure;
10. Improperly designed or installed gutter and downspout systems;
11. Damage to Shingles caused by any alterations made after completion of installation of the Shingles, including, but not limited to, structural changes, additions, equipment installations, power washing, painting and staining, or the application of cleaning solutions, coatings or other modifications to the Shingles;
12. Any damage caused by debris, resins or drippings from foliage and trees;
13. Improper storage, handling and other conditions which are beyond F-Wave's control; and Plain-English: F-Wave Shingles are covered against manufacturing defects that affect installed performance. Damage to the Shingles resulting from any causes other than as specifically outlined in this Limited Warranty is not covered by F-Wave, and no compensation will be paid by F-Wave to the owner.

P. NOTICE REGARDING THE CLAIMS PROCESS AND NOTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

A claim can be filed by calling the F-Wave Warranty Claims Service Representative at 1- 888-Go-F-Wave.
